It gives me immense pleasure to know that an edited book titled “Human Rights: Issues and Dimensions” is being published under UGC sponsored Career Oriented Programme by the Dept. of Political Science, J.N. College, Boko. I am very hopeful that the distinguished writers of this edited book will highlight several aspects, problems and prospects that we are encountered with. It reflects diversity of thought process and manifestation of creativity of individuals.

I wish all success on the publication of the Dept. of Political Science and hope the edited book will be an asset of Jawaharlal Nehru College, Boko.

It gives me immense pleasure to know that an edited book on the subject "Human Rights: Issues and Dimensions" under the UGC sponsored Career Oriented Programme will be published by the Department of Political Science, J.N. College, Boko. Many leading scholars of the North-East including renowned scholars from J.N.U. have contributed valuable articles for the same. In view of pro-active activities of Human Rights organizations and citizens concern for individual rights and dignity in a social welfare democratic set up of the country, a book on Human Rights will greatly benefit the scholars, students and general public. I deeply appreciate such an initiative by Dr. Praneswar Nath, H.O.D, Dept. of Political Science, J.N. College, Boko and his team.

I hope that the book will receive wide acclamation from all concerned.

With warm wishes,

A few words ... ..

It's a pleasure to express that the Dept. of Political Science has decided to bring out an edited book titled "Human Rights: Issues and Dimensions" under UGC sponsored Career Oriented Programme. The Dept. of Political Science has been organizing various academic programmes and activities among the students of our college on the issues of Human Rights and Duties. The students of the college have been participating in the programmes organized by the Dept. of Political Science.

I firmly believe that the Dept. of Political Science shall continue to work towards Human Rights and Duties of the people of the state. I am sure that the outcome of the edited book will benefit the women, youth, especially the students.

I sincerely wish a grand success of the publication.
Long Live Dept. of Political science, J.N.C., Boko.

Editorial

Human rights are the rights to which we all are equally entitled by virtue of being human. We are now in the century where human rights are at its peak but despite the mount of human rights movements for the protection and promotion of human rights, there are still the continuation of violations of the same through various ways which is quite haunting as well as disheartening. This has gained world-wide attentions and concerns. Thus, keeping this in mind, the department of Political Science, J.N. College, Boko once organized UGC sponsored Career Oriented Programme on Human Rights & Duties and accordingly decided to publish a book with an ISBN number related to the topic of Human Rights titled "Human Rights: Issues and Dimensions." As an editor of this book, I am very much thankful to all those research scholars and students from different Universities and also the teaching staffs of different colleges who thought this issue to be an important one and has also contributed their articles despite their hectic schedules. I am also very much grateful to all the respected members of the review committee for their guidance. Last but not the least, I convey my sincere gratitude to the respected Principal of the college, Coordinator of UGC sponsored C.O.P. and Chairman sir for helping, cooperating and guiding me all the way. This book which is based on the theme of human rights thus tries to bring different issues related to human rights to light, which will help the readers in developing their knowledge pertaining to human rights.

With regards
